GE'S ANNUAL MEETING OF SHARE OWNERS TO BE IN SOUTH

General Electric's annual meeting of share owners will be held in the South next year for the first time in the big electrical firm's history.

The company's 74th meeting — scheduled for Wednesday, April 27, 1966 — will be held in Atlanta, Ga. The meeting site will be the city's Municipal Auditorium.

Plans for the event, expected to draw more than 2,000 GE share owners from around the Southeast, were announced here today by William R. Eaton, general manager of the Mississippi Test Support Department.

He cited this area's importance as a major market for electrical and electronic products as one of the prime reasons for his company's decision to bring its annual meeting to the South.

Moreover, he said, the Southeast is a region in which GE has been expanding rapidly in terms of employees, payrolls and facilities, and in which significant members of company shareowners — some 35,000 in all — reside.

In the seven-state Southeast, he said, GE operates 15 manufacturing facilities and 280 sales-service installations in 68 different cities, with approximately 16,500 employees and annual payrolls totaling about $126 million.

In Mississippi, the company employs more than 1,600 people at the NASA Mississippi Test Facility here, the lamp manufacturing plant in Jackson, and sales-service operations in seven other cities, he said.

HANCOCK COUNTY BETSY DEBRIS CLEANUP TOPIC

Representatives of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Tuesday met with the Hancock County board of supervisors to discuss details for the cleanup of debris on beach areas of the county.

The board of supervisors had adopted a resolution on Oct. 15 requesting assistance of the Corps of Engineers in cleaning debris deposited on the beaches during Hurricane Betsy on Sept. 9-10.

A spokesman for the Corps of Engineers said the Corps is prepared to advertise for bids Thursday or Friday of this week. He said the bids would be opened Dec. 13 or 14.

The spokesman said if details are worked out and the contract awarded "we are ready to have equipment on the job before Christmas."

DISPOSAL AREA

Most of the discussion concerned the providing of suitable spoil area by the county for disposal of debris. The Corps of Engineers spokesman said a suitable area would consist of approximately 15 acres of well-drained land served by an all-weather road.

The contractor's trucks would not be able to utilize the beach road as an access road to any spoil area, the spokesman said, due to possible damage from the heavy trucks which could hamper the county in obtaining state aid for maintenance of this road.

One area being considered by the county for disposal of debris is approximately 10 acres in the Jackson Ridge area south of the Louisville & Nashville railroad in Clermont Harbor.

USDA ANNOUNCES
CROPLAND
PROGRAM 1966

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has announced details of a program aimed at long-term land use changes on millions of acres — with major benefits to both farm and nonfarm people.

The cropland adjustment program — authorized by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 — is aimed at removing from surplus production up to 40 million acres for periods of 5 to 10 years. Emphasis will be on shifting this land into public benefit uses which also conserve soil and water to meet future needs.

The cropland adjustment program, which supplements the year-long commodity programs, will reduce overall program costs by obtaining acreage diversions at lower rates over extended periods of time. Long-term agreements afford farmers more stability and thus better opportunity for planning adjustments in land use.

The Secretary said that the adjustment program is consistent with the administration's objective of "conservation for use," of "using rather than idling land."

He added that, "Our natural environment includes much more than the air, soil, and water which are essential to life. It also provides beauty, the opportunity for outdoor recreation, the protection of wildlife, and a host of other natural values."

"If those of us who are dedicated to conservation are to properly serve our growing population, as well as later generations, then we must provide for the multiple use of our resources in ways that insure their renewal for future use."

"Nearly three-fourths of the United States mainland is in private ownership, and it follows that a big opportunity for conservation lies with farmers, ranchers and other rural landowners. The CAP will give us a chance to shift some really significant acreages to public benefit uses."

The new program is designed to protect local communities by limiting the amount of land that can be put under the program. In any county or community, no more than 10 percent of the allotment or base acreage for any crop or of total cropland will be contracted in any single year and no more than 25 percent during the life of the program. Exceptions will be made where requested by local governments. In addition, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committees can exclude cotton acreage allotments from the program in 1966.

CAP will help farmers divert cropland to protective conservation uses under long-term agreements. Participants will receive adjustment payments related to the value of the crops normally produced on the land. They also will be eligible for conservation cost-share payments on the diverted land. And those who agree to permit free public access for fishing, hunting, hiking, and trapping in accordance with appropriate State and Federal regulations, may get an additional per-acre payment.

Secretary Freeman said he would appoint a wildlife advisory board to recommend the most effective procedures for expanded use of surplus crop acreage in fostering wildlife and increasing hunting and fishing recreational opportunities.

In general, operating farms which have been under the same ownership for 3 years prior to the agreement period are eligible for the program. Exceptions to this general rule are farms which have changed ownership by will or succession due to the previous owner's death, and farms which or 3 years prior to the agreement have been under the control of the person who will control it for the full period of the agreement. The law also permits farms with ownership changes as late as December 31, 1964, to participate, under certain circumstances.

Farmers who participate will receive payments based on the past use and the productivity of the land. For land that would otherwise produce wheat, corn, grain sorghum, or barley the annual payment per acre will be 40 percent of the county price support loan rate times the farm yield for the crop. Payments on cotton, peanuts, rice, and tobacco land will be at the farm yield times the following rates: Cotton (upland and ELS), 6c a pound; peanuts, 3.5c a pound; rice, $1.00 a hundredweight; and tobacco, from 6c to 12c a pound depending on the kind.

After placing all of his acreage of one or more of the above surplus crops in the program, the farmer may offer other cropland. Rates for this cropland will range nationally from $3.00 to $7.00 an acre.

All of the land taken out of production under the program will be put to conservation uses. In addition to conservation practices, wildlife plantings and vegetative cover assistance will be authorized for preserving open space and natural beauty. Other practices authorized for cost-share assistance fall within the general category of preventing air and water pollution and measures to provide better outdoor recreation.

Under another provision CAP may help State and local government agencies acquire cropland for nonfarm uses such as preservation of open spaces and natural beauty, wildlife habitat and recreation, the prevention of air and water pollution. The program may also share with these agencies the cost of establishing these practices on the cropland acquired.

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committees administer the program. Full details on how the program applies to an individual farm will be available in ASCS county offices in late December or early January.

4-H Youths Win Spots to Chicago Congress

Mississippi farm youths were judged state winners in their 4-H Club projects in the Cooperative Extension project contest. They will receive expense trips to Chicago, Nov. 28.

The four, who will attend the National 4-H Club Congress, are: Franklin Kendall, 16, of Carroll; W. J. Vanlandingham, 17, of Vanlandingham; Gary Melton, 17, and Shirley Land, 17, of Winona.

Vanlandingham, a high school student, was the award winner in the project. A winner at county level for five years, he increased the size of his farm from two sows, a boar, and pigs in 1959 to 15 sows, a boar, and 150 pigs in 1965. 4-H Club projects have helped him on increased responsibility on the farm, says the boy who lives with his parents on a 20-acre farm.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Land, he will be the guest of the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Vanlandingham, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Vanlandingham, was the winner in the 4-H project.

A sophomore at Mississippi State University, Vanlandingham put his 4-H knowledge to work on his parents' 160-acre farm. Since 1959, using methods learned in 4-H Club, he has raised 1,100 bushels of corn on 16 acres of land. Since 1961, he has made 19 acres of land produce 1,228 pounds of cotton lint.

Vanlandingham considers it "a privilege to appreciate the time of the 4-H motto 'To Make the Best Better' the most valuable thing I have learned since becoming a 4-H member."

The Arcadian Products Department, Allied Chemical Corporation, will sponsor his trip to Chicago.

Shirley Land, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Land, who live on a 200-acre farm near Winona, is the winner in the achievement program.

A freshman at Holmes Junior College, Miss Land will compete with other winners in the achievement program for a silver trophy from the President of the United States.

Her projects include food, health, home improvement, food preservation, safety, gardening, electricity, public speaking, recreation and leadership.

"Competing in the many programs, I have learned that where 4-Hers are concerned the competition can be very stiff. Although the contests are important, the really rewarding thing is the various activities," she said. "I will never forget the 4-H."

For Motor Company Fund will sponsor Miss Land's trip to Chicago.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOLS SENIORS TO PARTICIPATE IN EXAMINATIONS

A 50-minute knowledge and attitude examination which deals with the duties and the rewards of homemaking in today's society will be offered senior class girls in a number of high schools here Tuesday, December 7.

The girls will be among more than a half million others in approximately 18,000 of the nation's public, private and parochial high schools who have enrolled in the 1966 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow, sponsored by General Mills.

At stake are awards ranging from attractive pins for each school winner to $110,000 in scholarships for state and national winners.

Local school winners also will have their examination papers entered in state competition. The highest ranking state Homemaker of Tomorrow will then receive $1,500 scholarships. Their schools will be presented sets of Encyclopaedia Britannica by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. State runners-up will receive $500 scholarships.

Next spring, State Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow, each accompanied by her school advisor, will be guests on an expense-paid educational tour to historical centers in the East. The trip will culminate with the naming of the 1966 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow, whose scholarship will be raised to $5,000. National runners-up will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

Judging for national honors is on the basis of original test scores plus personal observation and interview during the tour. The program is the only national scholarship competition exclusively for

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

The children all like hamburgers, but for variety why not try surprising them with funny face hamburgers. They might be just the thing to brighten a birthday supper or teenage get-together.

Make the hamburger patties just as you usually do. Pan fry or broil them. Then just before serving, add the funny faces.

Oliver slices or slices of tiny onions held in place with a clove make the eyes. Use celery pieces for eyebrows and ears. Put on a peanut nose, or a nose made of cheese or pimento.

For a mouth, use a cheese or pimento strip; if you want a tongue sticking out, add a two-inch piece of cooked carrot.

For another change, shape the hamburgers to fit into hotdog buns. You might want to spiral a strip of bacon around each hotdog shaped hamburger before broiling.

EASY TO USE — ATTRACTIVE BATHROOMS — Homeowners are planning larger bathrooms that are easier to use and more attractive.

If you plan to update your present bathroom or to add another bathroom, give special thought to:

Good lighting for shaving and make-up areas; easy-to-reach convenience outlets for toothbrush razor; counter space for setting down bottles or articles; quiet fixtures; safe heating; good ventilation; well-planned storage; moisture proof and water proof surfaces; attractive easy to keep flooring and wall coverings; firmly anchored grab bars.

There are new materials for walls and floors, decorated plumbing fixtures, ornate fittings and all types of available accessories. Make your bathroom as glamorous as you like.

But remember, for an atmosphere of personal privacy and quiet in the bathroom, choose colors with restful harmony and materials that you will enjoy for a number of years.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — Beef cattle are increasing in the Delta and a recent economic study indicates this is a sound approach to using land made available by acreage restrictions on crops.

Arthur M. Heagler and Dr. Fred T. Cooke, Jr., USDA economists at the Delta Branch Experiment Station, and Dr. Thomas E. Tranel, Mississippi State University, analyzed conditions on five typical Delta farms. The economists concluded:

"Results of this study indicate that Delta farms with resource situations similar to any of the five analyzed would have higher returns if a cow-calf enterprise were included in the farm organization."

"Many farms that presently have a cow-calf enterprise included in the organization may increase returns through systematic conversion of marginal cropland and summer sod crops to Coastal Bermuda and expansion of the cow-calf enterprise."

"In some cases, major changes in cropping patterns must be made as the proper combination of field
